5:16 PM neal: http://bit.ly/CPC-Master largely built, starting to limp into operation

22 minutes

5:39 PM me: good to hear, are you having any luck getting campaigns to use this or have you reached that stage yet?
5:40 PM neal: we have a couple of Senate races half a dozen house races leader of House Progressive Caucus will talk to us next week 5:44 PM me: anything we can do to help at this point?
5:46 PM neal: recruiting is going nicely it should be full running by end of the weekend except maybe education
5:47 PM follow on will b e constituent services for congressional offices 5:48 PM you guys had some good ideas but were not so close to going live as we are I recall you had a lawyer friend, I did not get a chance to tak with him
5:50 PM me: yeah, we're shifting around our direction right now, concentrating on building up teams to approach various objectives rather than the blogger network, which we've only got one chance to get right
5:51 PM feel free to e-mail him if you have any questions or requests, we've got a lot of idle people
5:52 PM neal: OK
this thing will come live shortly, then it will be on to the next stuff tell me more about objectives 5:54 PM me: right now, I'm focusing on African development via viral information as well as improving science journalism in the U.S.
working mostly on the latter right now, will be kicking off next month neal: how so? me: pairing freelancers with scientists to produce better science feature articles 5:57 PM neal: similar to the sort of stuff we're doing
